

Miura and its portfolio companies undertake social initiatives to overcome the COVID-19 crisis

- The firm, along with the portfolio companies, contribute with financial support, donations of medical equipment and basic goods, as well as educational content, to combat coronavirus.

The current crisis caused by the COVID-19 pandemic and its effects on the economy have posed a major challenge to society, which has made enormous human and material sacrifices to address it. Miura Private Equity and its portfolio companies are no exception to this situation and have undertaken several social initiatives to help overcome the coronavirus crisis.

- Miura has made a donation to Hospital Clínic de Barcelona, one of the major public hospital in Barcelona, to support the funding of ventilators production, the acquisition of sanitary material, and to foster the coronavirus scientific research.
- Citri&Co is donating fresh fruit to IFEMA, the international fair center in Madrid, transformed these days into a field hospital. In addition, the company has contributed to Asociación Valenciana de Empresarios to support their initiatives undertaken against Covid-19.
- EfectoLed has acquired thousands of masks and delivered to hospitals, civil servants and security forces in Valencia and Gandia.
- Grupo Saona has provided as well a large amount of sanitary material to Madrid and Valencia hospitals, and food was donated to charity associations.
- Tekman has uploaded plenty of school content online free of charge and is organizing daily webinars to help teachers and parents continuing on children's education during the lockdown.
- The Visuality Corporation (TVC) is collaborating with the local community in Girona in the manufacturing of protection screens for health personnel and the police.

According to Luis Seguí, Founding Partner & CEO at Miura, "we want to thank all our portfolio companies for this effort. These actions give us the strength and courage to continue working to overcome the COVID-19 and never lose sight of our long-term goals. We hope that society will maintain the strength to face these exceptional times, and we also wish a rapid recovery of those affected by coronavirus”.
